WITH STANFORD UNIVERSITY ARCHAEOLOGIST LAURA JONES

Wednesday, June 6, 2018

6:00 - 8:00 PM

El Palo Alto Room

Mitchell Park Community Center

3700 Middlefield Road, Palo Alto

“Growing up in rural states, I was certainly aware of dirt - of soil. I had a foot in academia and in the outdoors.” - Laura Jones

Dr. Laura Jones, Director of Heritage Services and Archaeologist for Stanford University, is responsible for stewardship of the University’s nearly 100 archaeological sites and 200 historic buildings. In her talk Laura will share some highlights from a new project on the history of local roads and transportation networks, and preparations for the commemoration of the Sesquicentennial of the Transcontinental Railroad in 2019.

As a dynamic program unfolds, we’ll follow Dr. Laura Jones into her world as archaeologist as she links local people, places, and meanings across historical contexts.

Along the way we’ll come closer to our Palo Alto roots—and our predecessors on these lands.

During a festive gourmet dinner by Palo Alto-founded Kitchenina in the renovated Mitchell Park Community Center, guests will enjoy an organic 3-course meal, award-winning local wines, and plenty of time to connect with each other.
